Corrected Version

There are many moments in our life that time can never blur, and my childhood memories are some of them. I still remember that little neighbourhood where I spent my days playing in its roads, laughing between its old walls and creating unforgettable life stories. The Kindergarten was next to my house. Each day, I met my friends and went together to acquire knowledge, sing, dance and make friends. My childhood friend was called Salma. She was a kind girl with a warm smile that alleviated my fears and my worries. One of my best memories was the end of the school year party. We sang, played many games and got presents. We had too much fun, especially because I had the main role in a play. I will never forget those days.
